From the developers of the award winning Pathway to Glory and Warhammer 40,000: Squad Command, comes the PC agility racing game Trials 2 Second Edition. The new 3D game features stunning Full HD-graphics, realistic physics and extreme stunts, which place your racing skills to the test on tracks filled with traps, loops, obstacles and insane bone breaking falls.

"The flow of motion is plain awesome", describes Creative Director Antti Ilvessuo, "We have introduced a new set of physics that makes the gameplay even more exciting, than before. There are no predefined action keys or moves, the player is in complete control of every outcome, which offers total freedom on how the tracks are completed".

Trials 2 Second Edition is based on RedLynx's hugely successful Trials web games, which have gathered over 20 million unique players sine 2002. The game now features a total of 40 different racing tracks, multiple different play modes, customizable replays and global rankings with player profiles on the community website.
